

Surpath Medical GmbH

„Accurate Treatment, Intelligent Navigation“

Software Engineer (C++)

Who we are

Surpath Medical is a start-up company located in Würzburg, Germany. We are devoted to the development of cutting-edge technologies and equipments in the field of medical image processing and computer - assisted surgery. Our interdisciplinary, multicultural and international team consists of senior scientists and experienced engineers in medical software and hardware industry.

Job responsibilities include

- Developing software of medical image computing and visualization.
- Improving visualization modules such as volume rendering and interactions.
- Optimize upcoming software's architecture.

What we expect from you

- Bachelor degree or above in the field of Computer Science or similar.
- Proficient in C++.
- Experiences with continuous integration tools as well as unit testing.
- Knowledge of Qt, OpenGL, VTK, OpenInventor etc. is a plus.

What we offer

- Motivated team and flat hierarchies.
- Friendly working environment in the best white wine origin of Germany.
- Top-of-the-line computer and display, and anything necessary for your working needs.
- Flexible trust-based working hours.
- Competitive salary and unlimited working contract.

How to contact with us

Please send your CV and supportive documents in PDF by email to: info@surpath.de.

If you have any question related to this position, please ask without hesitation. We are looking forward to hear from you!

Seniority Level:
Mid-Senior level

Industry:
Medical Software

Employment Type:
Full-time, internship

Starting Time:
As soon as possible

Job Function:
C++ developer