

We have more than 50 Masters thesis projects available in the fields of data analytics, blockchain applications and software engineering. Some projects involve real industrial applications with international industry partners. The topics are suitable for both Masters of Software Engineering and Masters of Computer Science. We also have project proposals for Conversion Masters students. Details can be found at the following page: <http://sep.cs.ut.ee/Main/StudentProjects2017>