

Internship - Front-End Development

This is your chance to join a rapidly growing startup that is doing just about the coolest thing with the online sales process that anyone has ever seen - bringing an in-person customer experience to any website!

We are looking for a front-end developer powerhouse. Someone who can work their way through the front-end of the DOM as if they built the webkit itself. Someone who improves continuously and never become obsolete. This is someone that can appreciate working with other extremely fast and talented engineers. Someone who enjoys helping others grow and develop beyond their limits. You may have read that a great engineer is generally 10X better than an average engineer... we only hire great engineers exclusively.

We work with clients that are high-profile and are looking to make their SaleMove implementation as successful as possible. Your responsibility is to help them go from gadget to gold (from a novelty on their website to something that drives business value). You will be assembling implementation plans, interfacing with project teams and growing client relationships. SaleMove also supports your self-development and encourages you to get more skilled on your field.

Requirements

- Bachelor's in Computer Science or equivalent
- Strong knowledge of HTML, CSS, JS
- Write clean code and automated tests
- Have a strong sense of good UX and design
- Attention to visual as well as messaging detail
- Strong organizational and planning skills
- Self-starter with the energy, drive and determination to accomplish goals
- Passion for new technology
- Currently living in Tartu, Estonia or willing to relocate

We offer

- Work with some of the most talented engineers in Estonia
- Team trips including Sauna Retreats, nights out, paint-balling, team travel events
- An amazing top of the line computer, screens and anything else you need to do your magic
- We have incredible mentors & investors that are an active part of the company
- We give you a free gym membership (you have to commit to going 3x per week though!)
- We are a mini-UN: 7 languages and 6 countries represented
- We have a huge vision: To bring the in-person customer experience online
- Paid internship
- In-house pool and table football tournaments

Contact

To apply, please send an e-mail to careers@salemove.com including of:

Subject "SaleMove Internship - Front-End Development"

Resume/LinkedIn link

Cover letter which besides explaining your motivation answers the question "If a penguin should walk through a door from the room you are at the moment wearing a sombrero, then what does he say and why is he there?"

Link to GitHub/BitBucket account, relevant certificates or samples of your work

Please mention where you found this listing